

CONTENTS.

PART I.

ISAIAH AND HIS OWN AGE.

CHAPTER I.

	PAGE
PERSONAL LIFE OF ISAIAH	I
Particulars of Isaiah's private life—Relation of the prophets to the history of their age.

CHAPTER II.

ASSYRIA AND JUDAH IN THE EIGHTH CENTURY B.C.	5
Influence of Assyria upon Israel and Judah in the eighth century B.C.—Reign of the Assyrian king, Tiglath-Pileser II. (745-727)—Reigns of Uzziah (Azariah) and Jotham in Judah (790-736).

CHAPTER III.

THE BEGINNINGS OF ISAIAH'S MINISTRY	15
Isaiah's "call" (chap. vi.)—Prophecies belonging to the end of Jotham's reign (chap. i. ?), or the beginning of the reign of Abaz (chaps. ii.-iv., and v.).

CHAPTER IV.

THE SYRO-EPHRAIMITISH WAR	29
Isaiah and the Syro-Ephraimitish war (chaps. vii. 1-ix. 7; ix. 8-x. 4; xvii. 1-11)—The prophecy of Immanuel.

CHAPTER V.

	PAGE
THE REIGNS OF SHALMANESER IV. AND SARGON	43

Influence of Egypt upon the politics of Palestine—End of the Northern Kingdom (B.C. 722)—Sketch of the reign of Sargon (B.C. 722-705)—Ahaz succeeded by Hezekiah—Rise of a party in Judah whose watchword was alliance with Egypt—Prophecies of Isaiah belonging to this period (chaps. xxviii., xx.).

CHAPTER VI.

THE EARLY YEARS OF THE REIGN OF SENNACHERIB	55
---	----

Sargon succeeded by Sennacherib (705-681)—Preparations for rebellion in Palestine—Negotiations with Egypt—Line taken by Isaiah in 702 (chaps. xxix.-xxxii.).

CHAPTER VII.

THE GREAT DELIVERANCE	66
---------------------------------	----

Sennacherib's campaign of 701—Its four stages: (1) against the cities of Phœnicia; (2 and 3) against the Philistine cities of Ashkelon and Ekron; (4) against Judah—Isaiah's position at the crisis—The great deliverance (chaps. x. 5-xii. 6; xiv. 24-7; xvii. 12-14; chap. xviii.; chap. xxxiii.; 2 Kings xviii. 13^b-16; xviii. 17-xix. 36 [= Isa. xxxvii. 16-xxxviii. 37]).

CHAPTER VIII.

THE OCCASIONAL PROPHECIES OF ISAIAH	84
---	----

(Chapters xiii.-xxiii.)

CHAPTER IX.

ISAIAH'S CHARACTER AND GENIUS	107
---	-----

Isaiah as a statesman and social reformer—His most characteristic theological doctrines—The figure of the Messiah—Isaiah's literary and poetical genius.

PART II.

PROPHECIES UNRELATED TO ISAIAH'S AGE.

CHAPTER I.

ISRAEL'S TRIBULATION AND SUBSEQUENT REDEMPTION	115
--	-----

(Chapters xxiv.-xxvii.)

CHAPTER II.

	PAGE
BABYLON AND EDMON	126

(Chapters xiii. 1-xiv. 23; xxxiv.-xxxv.)

CHAPTER III.

THE GREAT PROPHECY OF ISRAEL'S RESTORATION	133
--	-----

(Chapters xl.-lxvi.)

Circumstances which led to the Babylonian captivity—Condition and prospects of the Jews during the exile—Standpoint of the author of chaps. xl.-lxvi., and exposition of his argument.

CHAPTER IV.

THEOLOGY AND LITERARY STYLE OF CHAPTERS XL.-LXVI.	168
---	-----

The author's distinctive teaching determined in part by his historical situation—Characteristic features of his theology—The figure of "Jehovah's Servant"—The author's literary style—The character of his poetry.

CHAPTER V.

AUTHORSHIP OF CHAPTERS XL.-LXVI.	185
--	-----

INDEX OF PROPHECIES	213
-------------------------------	-----

ERRATA.

Page 91, line 21, for 75, read 38.
 ,, 189, last line, for own, read coming.