

CONTENTS

PART II

THE PATRIARCHAL AGE

(Continued)

CHAPTER III

JACOB AND THE KIDSKINS: OR THE NEW BIRTH

§ 1. The Diverted Blessing

	PAGE
Story of Jacob's trick perhaps a reminiscence of a legal ceremony	1
How Jacob, disguised as his elder brother, obtained the blessing	2
Displacement of an elder by a younger son in the succession	4

§ 2. Sacrificial Skins in Ritual

East African tribes in relation to the Semites	4
Fat and skin of animal in Galla rite of adoption	6
Rings made from skins of sacrificial victims in East Africa	7
Kikuyu ceremony of the new birth	7
Assimilation of mother and child to sheep and lamb	10
Sacrificial skins at Kikuyu ceremony of adoption	10
Sacrificial skins at circumcision in East Africa	11
Sacrificial skins at marriage in East Africa	12
Sacrificial skins at covenants in East Africa	13
Sacrificial skins in another Kikuyu rite	15
Sacrificial skins at sacrifices in East Africa	16
Sacrificial skins in sickness, etc., in East Africa	18
Sacrificial skins at expiations among the Wachaga	20
Sacrificial skins at expiations among the Akikuyu	23
Sacrificial skins at expiations among the Wawanga	24
Sacrificial skins at transference of government in East Africa	25
Victim's skin intended to identify the wearer with the animal	26
Passing a child through a skin ring in Madagascar	27

§ 3. The New Birth		PAGE
Legal fiction of a new birth to effect a change of status		27
Fiction of new birth at adoption in antiquity and the Middle Ages		28
Fiction of new birth at adoption among Slavs and Turks		29
Fiction of new birth at adoption among the Klemantans		29
Fiction of new birth at adoption among the Bahima		30
Fiction of new birth enacted in Greece and India by persons erroneously thought to be dead		31
Fiction of new birth to raise a Brahman to the rank of a god		32
Fiction of new birth in India as expiation for breach of custom		33
Fiction of new birth from a metal cow as expiation in India		34
Fiction of new birth from a golden cow to raise Maharajahs of Travancore to Brahman rank		35
Fiction of new birth from a live cow in India		37
Rite of new birth tends to dwindle into an abridged form		38
§ 4. Conclusion
Jacob and the kidskins in relation to the rite of the new birth		39

CHAPTER IV

JACOB AT BETHEL

§ 1. Jacob's Dream

Jacob sent away to Laban in Haran	40
His dream of the heavenly ladder at Bethel	41
The stone at Bethel set up and anointed	41

§ 2. Dreams of the Gods

Belief that gods reveal themselves to men in dreams	42
Dreams in the sanctuary of Amphiaraus at Oropus	43
Dreams in the sanctuary of Aesculapius at Epidaurus	44
Dream oracle of Ino or Pasiphae in Laconia	50
Dream oracles in ancient Italy	51

§ 3. The Heavenly Ladder

African tales of heavenly ladders	52
Toradja tales of creepers connecting earth and heaven	52
Stories of heavenly ladder, etc., in Sumatra, Madagascar, and Russia	53
Ladders to facilitate the descent of gods or spirits	55
Ladders in graves for the dead to climb up	57

§ 4. The Sacred Stone

	PAGE
Popularity of the sanctuary at Bethel	58
Sacred stones at Canaanite and Hebrew sanctuaries	59
Stones worshipped by the ancient Arabs and Greeks	59
Worship of stones in the Banks' Islands and New Hebrides	60
Worship of stones in the Torres Straits Islands	63
Worship of stones in Samoa	64
Worship of stones in Bowditch Island and Nukunau	64
Worship of stones in the Indian Archipelago	65
Worship of stones among the Karens of Burma	66
Worship of stones among the Semas of Assam	66
Worship of stones in India	67
Worship of stones in China and the Caucasus	67
Worship of stones in Madagascar and Africa	68
Worship of stones among the North American Indians	69
The Gruagach stones in the highlands of Scotland	72
Sacred stones anointed in Norway	72
Sacred stones anointed in classical antiquity	72
Sacred stones anointed in India	73
Sacred stones anointed in the Kei Islands, Madagascar, and Africa	74
The anointed stone at Bethel	76
Many Bethels (baitylia) in Canaan	76
The standing stones (masseboth) of Canaanite sanctuaries	77

CHAPTER V

JACOB AT THE WELL

§ 1. Watering the Flocks

Jacob's meeting with Rachel at the well	78
Watering the flocks at wells in modern Palestine	79
Women as shepherdesses in Palestine and Arabia	81

§ 2. Weeping as a Salutation

The weeping of Jacob at meeting Rachel	82
Weeping at the meeting of friends in the Old Testament	83
Weeping at meeting among the Maoris	84
Weeping as a salutation in the Andaman Islands and India	86
Weeping as a salutation among the American Indians	87
Such salutations perhaps meant to effect a corporeal union	90
Initiation of a scavenger in the Punjab	90
Spittle at initiation among the Baluba	91
Spittle at covenanting and saluting in East Africa	92
The springs of tears and laughter	93

CHAPTER VI

JACOB'S MARRIAGE

§ 1. Jacob and his two Wives

	PAGE
Different motives assigned for Jacob's journey to Haran	94
Aversion of Jews to marriage with strange women	95
Jacob's marriage with his cousins in accordance with common custom	97

§ 2. The Marriage of Cousins

Distinction between cross-cousins , who are marriageable, and ortho-cousins , who are not marriageable	98
--	----

§ 3. The Marriage of Cousins in India

Distinction in respect of cousin-marriage between Aryans and aborigines	99
Marriage of cousins forbidden by Hindoo law	100
Marriage of cross-cousins commonly preferred among the aborigines	100
Marriage with mother's brother's daughter in Southern India	101
Cross-cousin marriage among the Dravidians	102
Cross-cousin marriage in Ceylon and Cochin	102
Cross-cousin marriage among the Todas	103
Cross-cousin marriage among the Tamil-speaking Dravidians	104
Marriage with a niece in Southern India	109
Cross-cousin marriage among the Telugu-speaking Dravidians	109
Mēnarikam , marriage with a mother's brother's daughter	110
Marriage with a cross-cousin or a niece in Mysore	113
Cross-cousin marriage among the Canarese-speaking Dravidians	117
Cross-cousin marriage among Oriya-speaking castes of Southern India	117
Cross-cousin marriage among Brahmans in Southern India	119
Cross-cousin marriage in Central and Northern India	120
Cross-cousin marriage among the Gonds	120
Tendency to prefer marriage with father's sister's daughter	121
Economic motive for marriage with mother's brother's daughter	124
Marriage with father's sister's daughter forbidden in some castes	124
Economic motives for marriage with a cross-cousin	125
Preference for one of the two forms of cross-cousin marriage	126
Cross-cousin marriage among the Kotvalias of Baroda	127
Cross-cousin marriage among Dravidian tribes of Mirzapur	128
Cross-cousin marriage among Bhotiyas of Northern India	129
Cross-cousin marriage in the Punjab	130
Cross-cousin marriage among Mohammedans of N. W. India	130
Cross-cousin marriage among aboriginal tribes of Bengal	131
Cross-cousin marriage among Mongoloid tribes of Chittagong and Assam	132

CONTENTS

§ 4. The Marriage of Cousins in other Parts of Asia

	PAGE
Cousin marriage practised in other parts of Asia	134
Cross-cousin marriage among the Chins of Burma	135
Cross-cousin marriage among the Singphos or Kachins of Burma	136
Cousin marriage among the Karens of Burma	138
Cousin marriage in Southern China and the Malay Peninsula	138
Cross-cousin marriage among the Gilyaks	138
Cousin marriage among the tribes of North-Eastern Siberia	139

§ 5. The Marriage of Cousins in America

Cousin marriage hardly recorded among American aborigines	140
Cousin marriage among the Aleuts	141
Cousin marriage among the Eskimo	141
Cross-cousin marriage among the Western Tinnehs	143
Economic motive for marriage with mother's brother's daughter	145
Cross-cousin marriage probably once common in North America	146
Cross-cousin marriage among the Indians of the Antilles and South America	148

§ 6. The Marriage of Cousins in Africa

Cross-cousin marriage common in Africa	149
Cross-cousin marriage among the Herero	150
Cousin marriage among the Bantus of South-East Africa	150
Cousin marriage among the Nyanja-speaking tribes of Rhodesia	151
Cross-cousin marriage among the Awemba of Rhodesia	153
Cousin marriage forbidden among the Winanwanga	154
Cousin marriage forbidden in some tribes of Rhodesia	155
Cross-cousin marriage among the Wahehe and Wagogo	156
Cross-cousin marriage in West Africa and Egypt	157
Cousin marriage in Madagascar	157
The marriage of all first cousins forbidden among the Baganda, Banyoro, Basoga, and Bateso	159
Cross-cousins obliged to avoid each other among the Baganda	160
Inference from avoidance of cross-cousins among the Baganda	161
Marriage of cousins forbidden among the Akikuyu	161
Expiation for marriage of cousins among the Akikuyu	162
Marriage of cousins forbidden among the Thonga	162
Expiation for marriage of cousins among the Thonga	163
The bond of kinship conceived as physical	163
Marriage of cousins barred among Wabemba and Wahorohoro	164
Marriage of cousins barred among the Masai	164
Expiation for marriage of cousins among the Masai	165
Marriage of cousins barred among the Yorubas	165

§ 7. The Marriage of Cousins in the Indian Archipelago		PAGE
Cross-cousin marriage in Sumatra		165
Cross-cousin marriage in the Kei Islands		167
Cross-cousin marriage in islands between New Guinea and Celebes		167
Cousin marriage in Celebes		169
Expiation for marriage with cousin once removed in Celebes		170
Marriage of cousins barred among some peoples of Celebes		171
Expiation for marriage of cousins in Celebes		171
Marriage of cousins barred in Java		172
Marriage of cousins barred in British Borneo		172
Expiation for marriage of cousins in Borneo		173
Marriage of cousins barred in Dutch Borneo		174
§ 8. The Marriage of Cousins in New Guinea and the Torres Straits Islands
Marriage of first cousins discountenanced in New Guinea		175
Marriage of first cousins discountenanced in Torres Straits		177
Cross-cousin marriage common in the Trobriand Islands		177
§ 9. The Marriage of Cousins in Melanesia
Cross-cousin marriage in New Caledonia		177
Cross-cousin marriage in the New Hebrides		178
Cross-cousin marriage in the Torres Islands		179
Cross-cousin marriage in Fiji		180
Ortho-cousins obliged to avoid each other in Fiji		181
Marriage of first cousins forbidden in the Banks' Islands		182
Marriage of first cousins forbidden in New Ireland		183
Cross-cousins obliged to avoid each other in New Ireland		183
§ 10. The Marriage of Cousins in Polynesia
Marriage of cousins discountenanced in Polynesia		184
Trace of cross-cousin marriage in Tonga		184
Second cousins allowed to marry in Rotuma		185
Marriage even of distant cousins rare in Mangaia		185
§ 11. The Marriage of Cousins in Australia
Marriage of cousins preferred in some tribes and forbidden in others		186
Cross-cousin marriage among the Urabunna		187
Cross-cousin marriage in Victoria and New South Wales		187
Cross-cousin marriage in Queensland and N.W. Australia		188
Marriage of children of cross-cousins among the Dieri		189
Contrast between Dieri and Urabunna customs		190
Marriage of ortho-cousins always barred by two-class exogamy		191
Marriage of children of cross-cousins among the Mardudhunera		191
Marriage of all cousins forbidden in some Australian tribes		192
Divergence of custom in regard to cousin-marriage in Australia		193

§ 12. Why is the Marriage of Cross-Cousins favoured?		PAGE
Why is cross-cousin marriage favoured and ortho-cousin marriage forbidden?		193
Economic motive for cousin-marriage among the Australian aborigines		194
Economic value of a wife among the Australian aborigines		194
A wife generally obtained in exchange for a sister or daughter		195
Exchange of sisters or daughters for wives in South Australia		196
Exchange of sisters or daughters for wives in Victoria and New South Wales		197
Commercial value of women in aboriginal Australia		198
The rape of women from other tribes comparatively rare		199
By exchange old men get most of the young women for themselves		200
Sisters or daughters usually given in exchange for wives		202
Exchange of sisters probably older than exchange of daughters		203
Cross-cousin marriage a natural consequence of exchange of sisters in marriage		205
Cross-cousin marriage probably older than the recognition of paternity		205
Suggested origin of cross-cousin marriage confirmed by the practice of the Kariera		206
Double-cross cousins and single-cross cousins		207
Cross-cousin marriage in Australia probably everywhere an effect of the exchange of sisters in marriage		209
The exchange of sisters in marriage probably the source of cross-cousin marriage elsewhere		209
Cross-cousin marriage and exchange of sisters in Southern India		210
Economic advantage of exchange of sisters in marriage		210
Cross-cousin marriage and exchange of sisters among the Bhotiyas		212
Cross-cousin marriage and exchange of sisters among the Garos		213
Cousin marriage and exchange of daughters in Baluchistan		213
Cross-cousin marriage not a necessary effect of exchange of sisters or daughters		214
Exchange of sisters in marriage in Torres Straits		214
Exchange of sisters in marriage in New Guinea		214
Exchange of daughters in marriage among the Santals of Bengal		217
Exchange of daughters in marriage among the tribes of the French Sudan		218
Exchange of daughters in marriage in Sumatra		218
Exchange of daughters in marriage in Palestine		219
Probability that cross-cousin marriage originated in the exchange of sisters or daughters as wives		220
§ 13. Why is the marriage of Ortho-Cousins forbidden?
Marriage of ortho-cousins prevented by the dual organization or the system of two exogamous classes		221
Dual organization probably everywhere at one time co-existent with cross-cousin marriage		222
Prevalence of dual organization attested by totemism and the classificatory system of relationship		222
Totemism as evidence of the dual organization		223

	PAGE
Totemic exogamy prevents marriage of ortho-cousins in some cases	223
Totemic exogamy less comprehensive than two-class exogamy	225
Totemic exogamy probably everywhere derived from two-class exogamy	226
The classificatory system of relationship as evidence of the dual organization	227
The classificatory system, a system of relationship between groups	227
The classificatory system extends the choice of wives	229
The classificatory system of relationship reflects a system of group marriage	230
In Australia the classificatory system based on two-class exogamy	231
The classificatory system not affected by the four- and eight-class exogamy found in some Australian tribes	232
Intention of successive divisions into two, four, and eight exogamous classes	232
Two-class exogamy intended to bar marriage of brothers with sisters	233
Two-class exogamy systematized the marriage of cross-cousins	234
Two-class exogamy barred the marriage of ortho-cousins	235
Preference for cross-cousin marriage probably older than two-class exogamy	235
Two-class exogamy derived from aversion to marriage of near kin	236
This derivation confirmed by comparison of rules as to cross-cousin marriage among the Urabunna, Dieri, and Arunta	236
Cross-cousin marriage barred by eight-class exogamy among the Arunta	237
Marriage of parents with children barred by four-class exogamy	238
Cross-cousin marriage not barred by four-class exogamy	239
Traces of dual organization coincident with cross-cousin marriage	240
The coincidence among the Dravidians of India	241
The coincidence in other races of Asia and America	241
The coincidence in Africa	242
The coincidence in the Indian Archipelago	243
The coincidence in Melanesia	244
The coincidence in Australia	244
Preference for cross-cousin marriage and prohibition of ortho-cousin marriage probably everywhere connected with dual organization	245
Growing aversion evinced to marriage of near kin	245
§ 14. An alternative Explanation of Cross-cousin Marriage
Other causes of cross-cousin marriage possible	246
Different theory of cross-cousin marriage proposed by Dr. Rivers	247
Anomalous forms of marriage in Melanesia	247
Dr. Rivers' explanation of these anomalous marriages	248
Dr. Rivers derives cross-cousin marriage in Melanesia from marriage with mother's brother's wife	250
Objections to this theory as a general explanation of cross-cousin marriage	251
Marriage with mother's brother's wife among the Garos rather effect than cause of cross-cousin marriage	252
Economic motive of cross-cousin marriage among the Garos	254

§ 15. Cousin Marriage among the Arabs

	PAGE
Preference for marriage with an ortho-cousin, the daughter of a father's brother	255
Preference for marriage with father's brother's daughter among the Arabs	255
Cousin marriage among the Arabs of Moab	257
Cousin marriage among the Arabs of Egypt	258
Marriage with the father's brother's daughter in Morocco	259
Marriage with the father's brother's daughter among the Hausas	260
Preference for marriage with the father's brother's daughter not derived from the dual organization	260
Wilken's theory that such marriages originated in ignorance of paternity	261
Robertson Smith's theory that such marriages originated in fraternal polyandry	261
Marriage with the father's brother's daughter probably later than cross-cousin marriage and based on economic motives	262

§ 16. The Sororate and the Levirate

Jacob's marriage with his cousins	263
Jacob's marriage with two sisters in their lifetime	264
Custom of marrying several sisters in order of seniority	264
The sororate and the levirate	264
The sororate and the levirate complementary customs	265
The sororate and levirate among the Indians of North America	266
The sororate and levirate among the Indians of South America	274
The sororate and levirate in Africa	275
The sororate and levirate in Madagascar	284
Brothers marry in order of seniority among the Kafirs	284
Brothers and sisters marry in order of seniority in India	285
Ancient Indian law on seniors marrying before juniors	286
Order of seniority in marriage observed among the South Slavs	287
Reminiscences of the order of seniority in Britain	288
Order of seniority in marriage in China, the East Indies, and Africa	290
The sororate and order of seniority in modern India	291
The sororate and levirate in modern India	293
The sororate and levirate among the tribes of Assam	296
The sororate and levirate among other Asiatic peoples	297
Marriage with deceased wife's sister among Cheremiss and Mordvins	298
The sororate and levirate in the Indian Archipelago	298
The sororate and levirate in Torres Straits, New Guinea, and the Lousiades	299
The sororate and levirate in the New Hebrides	300
The sororate and levirate in Polynesia and Micronesia	301
The sororate and levirate in Australia	303
Probable origin of the sororate and levirate in the marriage of a group of brothers to a group of sisters	304
This form of group marriage in Australia and India	304
Santal marriage of a group of brothers to a group of sisters	306

	PAGE
This form of group marriage combines the sororate and levirate	308
Parallel between the Santal and the Thonga system	309
Survival of group marriage among the Bhuiyas	310
Origin of the sororate and levirate in group marriage confirmed by the classificatory terms for husband and wife	311
Classificatory terms for husband and wife in Australia	313
Classificatory terms for husband and wife in Melanesia and Polynesia	315
Classificatory terms for husband and wife among the Gilyaks	316
Sororate and levirate derived from group marriage	317
Sororate and levirate limited in regard to seniority	317
Other limitations of marriage in regard to seniority	318
Division of savage communities into age-grades	318
Age-grades among the Kaya-Kaya of New Guinea	318
Age-grades at Bartle Bay in New Guinea	321
Age-grades among tribes of British East Africa	322
Age-grades among the Masai	323
Sexual communism between members of the same age-grade	324
Age-grades among the Wataweta	325
Sexual communism between members of the same age-grade	326
Sexual relations regulated by age-grades	326
All children borne by a woman after her daughter's marriage put to death	327
Age-grades among the Nandi	328
Ceremonies at circumcision among the Nandi	329
Circumcision and the reincarnation of the dead	330
Circumcision in relation to age-grades	331
Transference of government from one age-grade to another	331
Age-grades among the Akamba and Akikuyu	332
Age-grades among the Suk	333
Age-grades among the Turkana	334
Age-grades among the Gallas and in Wadai	335
Association of age-grades with sexual communism	335
Converging evidence of former sexual communism	336
Suggested explanation of prohibition to marry before elder brother or sister	336
Suggested explanation of prohibition to marry daughter of junior uncle or aunt	337
Suggested explanation of prohibition to marry wife's elder sister	338
Suggested explanation of prohibition to marry younger brother's widow	339
Two later types of levirate, the economic and the religious	339
The original levirate a product of group marriage	341

§ 17. Serving for a Wife

How Jacob served Laban for his two wives	342
Custom of earning a wife by service	342
Serving for a wife in India	343
The Abbé Dubois on serving for a wife in India	347
Serving for a wife in Sikhim and Nepaul	347
Serving for a wife among the tribes of Assam	348

	PAGE
Serving for a wife in Burma and Siam	351
Serving for a wife among the aborigines of Indo-China	352
Serving for a wife in Sumatra	353
Serving for a wife in Celebes	355
Serving for a wife among the Tenggeres of Java	357
Serving for a wife among the Kayans of Borneo	358
Serving for a wife in Amboyna, Ceram, etc.	358
Serving for a wife in the Philippine Islands	359
Serving for a wife among the Kamchadales	360
Serving for a wife among the Koryaks	361
Serving for a wife among the Chukchee	361
Serving for a wife among the Yukaghirs	365
Serving for a wife among the Eskimo and Indians of America	366
Serving for a wife in Africa	368

§ 18. Conclusion

Harmony of Biblical tradition with popular custom	371
---	-----

CHAPTER VII

JACOB AND THE MANDRAKES

How Rachel conceived through eating mandrakes	372
Belief in the fertilizing virtue of mandrakes in modern Palestine	374
Amatory properties ascribed to the mandrake by the Greeks	375
Belief in the fertilizing power of mandrakes in Italy, England, and America	376
The mandrake regarded as man-like	377
Artificial mandrakes as charms in modern Europe	378
Bacon and John Parkinson on mandrakes	379
Artificial mandrakes in the East	380
The mandrake supposed to grow under a gallows	381
The mandrake uprooted by a dog	381
Valuable properties ascribed to the mandrake	382
The mandrake as a familiar spirit who brings wealth	383
Superstitions about the mandrake in Wales and England	384
Shakespeare on the mandrake	385
Narcotic property ascribed to the mandrake in antiquity	385
French superstition as to riches brought by mandrakes	386
The use of a dog to uproot the mandrake	387
Apuleius Platonicus on the uprooting of the mandrake	388
The use of a dog to uproot the aglaophotis or peony	388
Arab superstitions about the mandrake	390
Josephus on the uprooting of the baaras by a dog	390
The baaras perhaps the sulphur-plant	391
The baaras possibly the mandrake	392
Jewish legend as to the mandrake and the ass	393

	PAGE
Hebrew and Homeric treatment of crudities in legend	394
Function of the dog in the mandrake superstition	394
Armenian parallel	395
Personification of the mandrake	395
Dog employed to uproot other plants	396
Supposed rage of plants at being uprooted	396
Survival in poets of the primitive personification of plants	397

CHAPTER VIII

THE COVENANT ON THE CAIRN

Jacob's return to the land of his fathers	398
His dispute with Laban	400
The reconciliation and covenant at the cairn	401
The cairn personified as a witness	401
Rude stone monuments beyond Jordan	402
Stones employed to give stability to covenants	403
The stone at marriage in India	404
Oaths on stones in Scotland	405
Oaths on stones in Africa and India	406
Religious and magical uses of stones in oaths	407
Twofold aspect of the cairn in Jacob's covenant	407
Procopius on a detection of perjury	408
Cairns as witnesses in modern Syria	409

CHAPTER IX

JACOB AT THE FORD OF THE JABBOK

Jacob's descent into the glen of the Jabbok	410
Jacob's wrestle with a mysterious adversary at the ford	411
His adversary perhaps the jinnee of the river	412
The wrestling of Greek heroes with water-sprites	412
Shape-shifting in such encounters	413
Propitiation of water-spirits at fords	414
Rivers worshipped by Bantu tribes of South Africa	415
Offerings to rivers at crossing them in Africa	417
Ceremonies at crossing rivers in South India	419
Chiefs and kings forbidden to cross certain rivers	420
Ceremonies of the Angoni at crossing a river	420
Punishments inflicted on river-spirits	421
Punishing or fighting the spirits of the sea	422
The sinew that shrank ; American Indian parallels	423
Ancient Mexican parallel to Jacob's nocturnal wrestle	424

CHAPTER X

JOSEPH'S CUP

	PAGE
Joseph's divining cup	426
Divination by appearances in water in antiquity	426
Divination by appearances in water or ink in modern Egypt	427
Divination by appearances in water in Scandinavia and Tahiti	429
Divination by appearances in water in the Malay Peninsula, New Guinea, Africa, and among the Eskimo	430
Vision of gods in water contrived by ancient oracle-mongers	431
Other ways of divining by a vessel of water	431
Divination by things dropped into water	432
Divination by tea-leaves in a cup	432
Divination by molten lead or wax in water	433

PART III

THE TIMES OF THE JUDGES AND THE KINGS

CHAPTER I

MOSES IN THE ARK OF BULRUSHES

National history of Israel begins with Moses	437
Exposure and preservation of the infant Moses	438
Exposure and preservation of Semiramis	440
Exposure and preservation of Gilgames	440
Exposure and preservation of Cyrus	441
Exposure and preservation of Perseus	444
Exposure and preservation of Telephus	445
Exposure and preservation of Aegisthus	446
Exposure and preservation of Oedipus	446
Exposure and preservation of Romulus	447
Exposure and preservation of Sargon	450
Exposure and preservation of Prince Karna in the Mahabharata	451
Exposure and preservation of Trakhan, king of Gilgit	452
Water ordeal to test the legitimacy of children	454

CHAPTER II

THE PASSAGE THROUGH THE RED SEA

Passage of the Israelites through the Red Sea	456
---	-----

	PAGE
Passage of Alexander the Great through the Pamphylian Sea . . .	457
Passage of a Roman storming-party through the sea at New Carthage . . .	459
African stories of miraculous passages through water . . .	461

CHAPTER III

THE WATERS OF MERIBAH

How Moses produced water from a rock with his staff . . .	463
How Dori produced water from a rock with his spear . . .	463

CHAPTER IV

GIDEON'S MEN

Gideon commanded to deliver Israel from Midian . . .	465
The deliverers chosen for their mode of drinking water . . .	466
Throwing water into the mouth in Africa . . .	467
Throwing water into the mouth in Cambodia, Samoa, and New Caledonia . . .	468
Throwing water into the mouth in the New Hebrides . . .	468
Reason for this mode of drinking . . .	469
An incident in the wars of Massachusetts . . .	469

CHAPTER V

JOTHAM'S FABLE

How Abimelech made himself king of Shechem . . .	471
How Jotham spoke to the men of Shechem . . .	471
His fable of the bramble as king of the trees . . .	472
Rivalry between the trees in Aesop's fables . . .	473
Callimachus on the rivalry of the laurel and olive . . .	473
Rivalry between the trees in an Armenian fable . . .	476
Rivalry between plants in a Malay story . . .	477
Jotham's fable inserted in mediaeval collections . . .	478

CHAPTER VI

SAMSON AND DELILAH

Incongruity of Samson among the judges . . .	480
The home country of Samson . . .	481
Samson's strength in his hair: the secret betrayed . . .	482
Belief in East Indies that a man's strength is in his hair . . .	484

CONTENTS

	PAGE
Belief in Europe that the power of a witch is in her hair . . .	485
Similar belief as to witches in India and Mexico . . .	486
Niasian story of king whose strength was in his hair . . .	486
Ballad of Lord Soulis and his charmed life . . .	488
Ancient Greek stories like that of Samson and Delilah . . .	490
Russian story of Koshchei the Deathless . . .	491
Serbian story of the warlock True Steel . . .	493
Serbian story of the dragon of the mill . . .	494
Islay story of the giant and the egg . . .	495
Argyleshire story of the giant and the thorn . . .	496
Indian story of the ogre king of Gilgit . . .	497
Resemblance of all these stories to the Samson legend . . .	501
Transposition of the hero and the villain . . .	501
The harlequins of history . . .	502

CHAPTER VII

THE BUNDLE OF LIFE

The wilderness of Judea . . .	503
David and Abigail . . .	504
"The bundle of life" . . .	505
Belief that souls can be abstracted from their bodies . . .	506
Souls extracted to keep them out of harm's way . . .	507
Bundles of sticks and stones as receptacles of souls in Central Australia . . .	508
Analogy of these bundles to "the bundle of life" . . .	510
Ezekiel on women who hunt and catch souls . . .	510
The art of hunting and catching souls . . .	511
Trapping souls in Celebes . . .	512
"Houses of the soul" denounced by Isaiah . . .	513
"Houses of the soul" perhaps scent-bottles . . .	515
Folk-lore and poetry . . .	516

CHAPTER VIII

THE WITCH OF ENDOR

Saul and Samuel . . .	517
The character of Saul . . .	517
The eve of battle . . .	519
Saul resolves to consult the ghost of Samuel . . .	519
Saul and the witch of Endor . . .	520
Necromancy among the ancient Hebrews . . .	522
Necromancy in the Gilgamesh epic . . .	525
Necromancy among the ancient Greeks . . .	525
The oracles of the dead . . .	526
The oracle of Aornum in Thesprotis . . .	526

	PAGE
Oracles imparted by the dead in dreams	528
Dream oracle of the dead in Italy	529
Dream oracles on graves in North Africa	530
Dream oracles on graves in Celebes	530
Evocation of the ghosts of Darius, Achilles, and Homer	530
Lucan on the evocation of the dead	531
Horace and Tibullus on the evocation of the dead	532
Evocation of the dead by Nero and Caracalla	532
Necromancy in Africa	533
Oracles of dead kings among the Baganda	533
Oracles of dead kings among the Banyoro	534
Oracles of dead chiefs among the Basoga	534
Oracles of dead chiefs among the Bantu tribes of Rhodesia	535
Oracles of dead kings among the Barotsé	536
Evocation of the dead among the negroes of West Africa	537
Consultation of the dead by means of their images	537
Evocation of the dead among the Maoris	538
Evocation of the dead in Nukahiva	541
Evocation of the dead in New Guinea and Celebes	542
Evocation of the dead in Borneo	542
Evocation of the dead among the Bataks of Sumatra	545
Evocation of the dead among the Eskimo	546
Necromancy and evocation of the dead in China	546
Evocation of the dead among the Mordvins	551
Wide diffusion of necromancy	554

CHAPTER IX

THE SIN OF A CENSUS

Aversion of Jehovah to the numbering of Israel	555
Aversion of Congo peoples to count themselves or their children	556
Aversion of East African tribes to count themselves or their cattle	556
Aversion of the Hottentots to be counted	558
Aversion to numbering people and things in North Africa	558
Mode of counting measures of grain in Palestine	559
Aversion to counting leaves in the Shortlands	559
Aversion to counting fruit or people among American Indians	559
Superstitious objection to counting in Europe	560
Jewish objection to a census probably superstitious	563
Later relaxation of the rule	563

CHAPTER X

SOLOMON AND THE QUEEN OF SHEBA

Riddles propounded to Solomon by the Queen of Sheba	564
Contest of wit between Solomon and Hiram	566

CONTENTS

	xxi PAGE
Contests of wit between two Rajahs of Celebes	566
Solomon, the Queen of Sheba, and the crystal floor	567
King Duryodhana and the crystal floor in the Mahabharata	568

CHAPTER XI

THE JUDGMENT OF SOLOMON

Solomon's test of motherhood	570
Repetition of the story in Jain literature	570