
Contents

Preface	xi
One	I
Introductory analysis – chapter 6 a parenthesis – the problem of antinomianism stated – the ‘danger’ of the doctrine of justification by faith – correct translation of verse 2.
Two	13
Realizing our position – various interpretations of the key phrase considered – death to the reign of sin – the impossibility of continuing in sin.
Three	29
Union with Christ – the kind of baptism referred to – this doctrine common knowledge – the status of all Christians – baptism into the whole Christ.
Four	42
The implications of our union with Christ – union in His death, burial and resurrection – past objective facts, not exhortations – the glorious power of God – life in the new realm .
Five	55
The likeness of Christ’s resurrection, now and future – the old man and his crucifixion – the knowledge of faith leading to glorious experiences.

Contents

Six	68
The negative consequences of our crucifixion with Christ – ‘the old man’ and ‘the body of sin’ distinguished – sin in the body disannulled – freedom from the slavery of sin.
Seven	81
Reconciliation of Romans 6:6 and Ephesians 4:22–24 – practical encouragement – translation of ‘freed’ defended – freedom from the tyranny of sin – the safety of the believer.
Eight	93
The positive aspect – Paul’s use of the future in verse 8 – Christ’s relationship to sin – the significance of His resurrection – Christ’s death unto sin.
Nine	106
Christ’s life unto God – contrast with His humiliation – drawing the right conclusion about ourselves – what Paul is not saying.
Ten	120
The Christian’s death to the reign of sin – its finality – the end of death’s dominion, the law’s condemnation and sin’s bondage – the backslider.
Eleven	132
The Christian under the reign of grace – a new relationship to God – God’s purpose of holiness for us – its certain fulfilment – practical consequences of a proper ‘reckoning’.
Twelve	148
‘Therefore’ and the necessity for the application of teaching – the New Testament way of teaching holiness – ‘let not sin reign in your mortal bodies’ – motives and encouragements to sanctification.
Thirteen	163
An exhortation addressed to our wills – sin, the enemy – our members – presentation of ourselves to God – the clinic and the parade-ground.

Contents

Fourteen	176
A reminder of our God-given ability – glorifying God – verse 14, an encouragement to obedience – law and grace – the new covenant.
Fifteen	190
Analysis of the second half of the chapter – the next objection explained – slaves of sin or of obedience – ownership demonstrated by life.
Sixteen	205
The great change, mind, heart and will – the pattern of obedience – faith and obedience.
Seventeen	221
Freedom from sin – enslavement to righteousness – the principle of new life – humanism and Pharisaism – religious sanctions – redemption and morality.
Eighteen	240
The use of analogy – willing slavery – the infirmity of the flesh – spiritual discernment – growth in understanding.
Nineteen	255
Varieties of personality – exhortation, not a second experience – God’s reasonable demands – what we were and what we are.
Twenty	270
Supporting arguments for holy living – the old life – freedom from righteousness – fruitlessness, shame and death.
Twenty-one	285
‘But now’ – the new life – Christian freedom – Christian slavery – Christian fruit.
Twenty-two	300
Summary and conclusion – two contrasting possibilities for men – the master we serve – the conditions of service – the ultimate end – all through Jesus Christ our Lord.	