

Contents

Acknowledgments	7
About This Book	9
1. Four Major Theorists	17
Erich Fromm	18
Carl Rogers	20
Abraham Maslow	23
Rollo May	24
2. Self-Theory for Everybody	28
Encounter Groups	29
Self-Helpers	30
est	31
Self-Help Sex	34
3. Selfism As Bad Science	37
Psychiatry, Biology, and Experimental Psychology	38
Are We Intrinsicly All That Good?	44
4. From a Philosophical Point of View	50
A Question of Definitions	50
A Basic Contradiction	52
Ethical and Scientific Misrepresentations	55
5. Selfism and Today's Society	57
A Creed for the Youth Culture	57
Selfism and Language	58
Psychology for a Consumer Society	60

6 ■ Psychology As Religion

6. Selfism and Christianity: Historical Antecedents	66
Feuerbach	66
Fosdick and Peale	69
Pietism	74
The Special Case of Carl Rogers	75
7. Selfism and the Family	83
The Isolated Individual	83
Parents As the Source of Our Troubles	85
8. A Christian Critique	91
Selfism As Idolatry	91
Christian Love and Selfist Love	96
Creativity and the Creator	102
The Nature of Suffering	103
9. Christian Politics	106
The Problem for Psychology	106
The Problem for Christianity	107
10. Beyond the Secular Self	115
The Bias in Being "Objective"	115
The Object's Revenge	118
The Dilemma of Existential Narcissism	120
Escape from the Self	126
11. A New Christian Future?	130
The End of Modern Heroism	130
The Coming Failure of Careerism	131
The Emerging Opportunity	133
Notes	136
Indexes	145