

Contents

Introduction

ix

Part One The Transmission of Christian Faith

1. World Christianity and the Early Church 3
2. Origen, the Father of Mission Studies 19
3. Worldviews and Christian Conversion 35
4. Toward a Theology of Migration 49
5. Globalization and the Study of Christian History 63

Part Two Africa in Christian Thought and History

6. The Cost of Discipleship
The Witness of the African Church 79
7. A Christian Experiment
The Early Sierra Leone Colony 91
8. Christianity and the Language Issue
The Early Years of Protestant Missions in West Africa 111
9. The Discovery of "African Traditional Religion" and Its Impact on Religious Studies 127
10. Kwame Bediako and Christian Scholarship in Africa 145

Part Three The Missionary Movement and the West

11. Missions and the English Novel 157
12. World Parish to World Church
John and Charles Wesley on Home and Overseas Mission 173
13. Missions and Historical Memory
Jonathan Edwards and David Brainerd 185
14. Distinguished Visitors
Tiyo Soga and Behari Lal Singh: In Europe and at Home 203

15. Western Christians in China A Chapter in a Long History	217
16. Building to Last Harold Turner and the Study of Religion	245
Conclusion The Future of Missiology—Missiology as Vocation	259
Sources	267
Index	271