

Contents

Preface	xv
Bibliography	xix
Abbreviations	xxix
Chapter 1. Prologue	1
§1 Prolegomena to a theology of Paul	1
§1.1 Why a theology of Paul?	2
§1.2 What is a “theology of Paul”?	6
§1.3 Can a theology of Paul be written?	13
§1.4 How to write a theology of Paul?	19
§1.5 Toward a theology of Paul	23
Chapter 2. God and Humankind	27
§2 God	27
§2.1 God as axiom	28
§2.2 God as one	31
§2.3 Other gods?	33
§2.4 God and the cosmos	38
§2.5 The God of Israel	43
§2.6 God in experience	46
§2.7 Conclusion	49
§3 Humankind	51
§3.1 Anthropological presuppositions	51
§3.2 Sōma	55
§3.3 Sarx	62
§3.4 Sōma and sarx	70

§3.5	Nous and kardia	73	§7.3	Kerygmatic and confessional formulae	174
§3.6	Psychē and Pneuma	76	§7.4	The apocalypse of Jesus Christ	177
§3.7	Summary	78	§7.5	The eschatological now	179
Chapter 3. Humankind under Indictment		79	§8	Jesus the man	182
§4	Adam	79	§8.1	How much did Paul know or care about the life of Jesus?	183
§4.1	The dark side of humanity	79	§8.2	Some a priori considerations	185
§4.2	Adam in Jewish scripture	82	§8.3	Echoes of Jesus tradition in Paul	189
§4.3	Adam in post-biblical Jewish tradition	84	§8.4	Jesus	196
§4.4-9	Adam in Paul's theology		§8.5	Messiah	197
§4.4	Romans 1.18-32	91	§8.6	Adam	199
§4.5	Romans 3.23	93	§8.7	The incarnate Son?	204
§4.6	Romans 5.12-21	94	§8.8	Conclusion	206
§4.7	Romans 7.7-13	98	§9	Christ crucified	207
§4.8	Romans 8.19-22	100	§9.1	As one died	208
§4.9	Summary	101	§9.2	A sacrifice for sins	212
§5	Sin and death	102	§9.3	Paul's theology of atoning sacrifice	218
§5.1	The power of evil	102	§9.4	The beloved Son	224
§5.2	The heavenly powers	104	§9.5	The curse of the law	225
§5.3	Sin	111	§9.6	Redemption	227
§5.4	The effects of sin — misdirected religion	114	§9.7	Reconciliation	228
§5.5	The effects of sin — self-indulgence	119	§9.8	Conquest of the powers	230
§5.6	The effects of sin — sins	123	§9.9	Conclusions	231
§5.7	Death	124	§10	The risen Lord	234
§5.8	In sum	127	§10.1	The resurrection of the crucified	235
§6	The law	128	§10.2	The last Adam	241
§6.1	Sin, death, and the law	129	§10.3	Son of God in power	242
§6.2	Torah, nomos , and ho nomos	131	§10.4	The Lord	244
§6.3	The measure of God's requirement and judgment	133	§10.5	Jesus as God?	252
§6.4	Israel under the law	137	§10.6	The life-giving Spirit	260
§6.5	A relationship whose time is past	143	§10.7	Conclusions	265
§6.6	A law for life? — or death?	150	§11	The pre-existent one	266
§6.7	Is the law sin?	155	§11.1	Divine Wisdom	267
§6.8	Conclusions	159	§11.2	Jesus as Wisdom	272
Chapter 4. The Gospel of Jesus Christ		163	§11.3	Other possible Wisdom passages	277
§7	Gospel	163	§11.4	Philippians 2.6-11	281
§7.1	Euangelion	164	§11.5	Other possible pre-existent Adam passages	288
§7.2	"In accordance with the scriptures"	169	§11.6	Conclusions	292

§12 Until he comes	294
§12.1 The coming (parousia) of Christ	294
§12.2 The parousia hope in the Thessalonian letters	298
§12.3 Christ's role in the end events in the later letters	305
§12.4 The delay of the parousia	310
§12.5 Conclusions	313
Chapter 5. The Beginning of Salvation	317
§13 The crucial transition	317
§13.1 A new epoch	317
§13.2 Grace as event	319
§13.3 The new beginning	323
§13.4 Metaphors of salvation	328
§14 Justification by faith	334
§14.1 A new perspective on Paul	335
§14.2 The righteousness of God	340
§14.3 The impact of Paul's conversion	346
§14.4 Works of the law in Judaism	354
§14.5 Not of works	359
§14.6 Self-achieved righteousness?	366
§14.7 By faith alone	371
§14.8 Faith in Christ	379
§14.9 The blessings of justification	385
§15 Participation in Christ	390
§15.1 Christ mysticism	390
§15.2 "In Christ," "in the Lord"	396
§15.3 "With Christ"	401
§15.4 Complementary formulations	404
§15.5 The corporate Christ	408
§15.6 The consequences of participation in Christ	410
§16 The gift of the Spirit	413
§16.1 The third aspect	414
§16.2 The eschatological Spirit	416
§16.3 Receiving the Spirit	419
§16.4 The experience of the Spirit	426
§16.5 The blessings of the Spirit	434
§16.6 Conclusion	440
§17 Baptism	442
§17.1 The traditional view	442
		§17.2 Exegetical issues	447
		§17.3 An ordo salutis?	455
		§17.4 Infant baptism	457
		Chapter 6. The Process of Salvation	461
		§18 The eschatological tension	461
		§18.1 Between the times	461
		§18.2 Already-not yet	466
		§18.3 The divided "I"	472
		§18.4 Flesh and Spirit	477
		§18.5 Sharing Christ's sufferings	482
		§18.6 The process completed	487
		§18.7 Conclusions and corollaries	493
		§19 Israel	499
		§19.1 Has God's word failed (9.1-5)?	500
		§19.2 Who is Israel (9.6)?	504
		§19.3 The character of Israel's election (9.7-29)	509
		§19.4 Israel's misunderstanding of its call (9.30-10.21)	514
		§19.5 Israel not abandoned (11.1-24)	519
		§19.6 All Israel shall be saved (11.25-36)	526
		§19.7 The final goal (15.7-13)	529
		§19.8 Conclusions	531
		Chapter 7. The Church	533
		§20 The body of Christ	533
		§20.1 Redefining corporate identity	534
		§20.2 The church of God	537
		§20.3 Community without cult	543
		§20.4 The body of Christ	548
		§20.5 Charismatic community	552
		§20.6 The shared experience of the church	561
		§20.7 An unrealistic vision?	562
		§21 Ministry and authority	565
		§21.1 Charism and office	566
		§21.2 Paul's apostolic authority	571
		§21.3 The other regular ministries	580
		§21.4 The ministry and authority of women	586
		§21.5 The authority of the congregation	593
		§21.6 Discerning the spirits	594

§21.7 Conclusion	598	Chapter 9. Epilogue	713
§22 The Lord's Supper	599	§25 Postlegomena to a theology of Paul	713
§22.1 The problem in assessing Paul's theology of the Lord's Supper	600	§25.1 Paul's theology as dialogue	713
§22.2 Influence from other religions?	601	§25.2 The stable foundation of Paul's theology	716
§22.3 The origin of the sacrament	606	§25.3 The fulcrum point of Paul's theology	722
§22.4 The situation in Corinth	609	§25.4 Centre and development	729
§22.5 Paul's theology of the Lord's Supper: spiritual food	613	§25.5 Other innovative and lasting features	733
§22.6 Paul's theology of the Lord's Supper: sharing in the one body	615	Index of Subjects	739
§22.7 Paul's theology of the Lord's Supper: christology	620	Index of Modern Authors	745
Chapter 8. How Should Believers Live?	625	Index of Scripture and Other Ancient Writings	759
§23 Motivating principles	625
§23.1 Indicative and imperative	626
§23.2 Once more, the law	631
§23.3 Faith and "the law of faith"	634
§23.4 Spirit and "the law of the Spirit"	642
§23.5 Christ and "the law of Christ"	649
§23.6 Liberty and love	658
§23.7 Traditional wisdom	661
§23.8 Conclusions	668
§24 Ethics in practice	670
§24.1 The social context	672
§24.2 Living within a hostile world — Rom. 12.9–13.14	674
§24.3 Living with fundamental disagreements — Rom. 14.1–15.6	680
§24.4 Living between two worlds: sexual conduct (1 Corinthians 5–6)	689
§24.5 Living between two worlds: marriage and divorce (1 Corinthians 7)	692
§24.6 Living between two worlds: slavery (1 Cor. 7.20–23)	698
§24.7 Living between two worlds: social relations (1 Corinthians 8–10)	701
§24.8 The collection	706
§24.9 Conclusion	711		