Section I Restoring the Prophetic Office
1 The Summons	1
A call to the Lord's end-time prophets to arise, and understand, and assume their office.
2 In the Spirit and Power of Elijah	7
A summons to the Elijah task, distinguishing the spirit and power of Elijah, in the time of John the Baptist and now.
3 To Restore All Things	23
The commission of end-time prophets sketched as preview to this and the six books to follow.
4 The Call of a Prophet	41
A description of ways, means, and times in which God may call a man to the office of prophecy.
5 The Discipline and Training of a Prophet	59
A call to the church to understand how God forms his prophets in its midst, that she may help to mature rather than destroy them.
6 Lessons in Prophecy from the Story of the Woman at the Well	69
Lessons and examples in the way of a prophet, revealing the important laws of dependency and reward, humiliation and nurture.
7 The Proper Discharge of the Prophet's Duty	89
Corrections and warnings concerning the way a prophet performs his tasks for God, and the lesson of rest and contentedness.
Section II The Power and Ways of Intercession
8 The Good, the Acceptable, and the Perfect Will of God	107
An important clarification of the distinction between the operation of universal principles and the personal intervention of God, and how understanding is vital to intercession.
9 The Stopping Place	121
An exposition of the centrality of the cross, not only to man, but to the entire universe, and how this relates to intercession and thus to our relation to God the Father.
10 The Creative Power of the Word in Prayer	135
A most urgent revelation of the relation of matter and Spirit, showing therefore how the spoken word of prayer has power to effect change in man and earth.
