1. The Church's One Foundation 5

Jesus wanted His followers to see Him as the cornerstone of the Church, but His design for a foundation was apostles and prophets.

2. What Apostles Have 24

Two important characteristics set apostles apart from other members of the Body of Christ: the authority of apostles and the spheres of apostolic authority.

3. How Apostles Operate 41

All apostles have the same gift, but I now see that it is extremely helpful to distinguish four different ministries of apostles.

4. What Apostles Need 57

Apostles have five principal needs: 1) positive relationships with prophets; 2) personal intercessors; 3) recognition and affirmation; 4) open communication channels; 5) and functional accountability.

5. Both Apostles and Prophets Are Crucial 74

Prophets began to be more widely recognized in the 1980s, while apostles started to come into their own only in the 1990s. This was necessary because the prophets first had to open the curtain of God's revelation to key church leaders, allowing them to look through to see that when the apostles came, it was truly something the Spirit was saying to the churches.

6. Hitching Apostles to Prophets 88

Apostles can do certain good things on their own. Prophets can do certain good things on their own. But hitched together, they can change the world!

7. Apostles and Prophets in Real Life 107

At these relatively early stages of the resurgent prophetic movement, we have a mixed bag on our hands. There are some really good things going on, and there are also some things that we hope will soon be corrected as the movement itself matures.

8. Apostolic Order in the Prophetic Movement 121

Prophets can better be what God wants them to be if they agree to become hitched to apostles for the long haul.
